

$41,000 VICTIM LAUGHS AS QAULEY GETS HIS SENTENCE

Ruined by Colossal Swindler,
Caig Finds Satisfaction
in Court Room.

John A. Qualey, who swindled Mrs. Mary Evans Bull, the widow of Dr. William Bull, out of $41,000 and was convicted of the crime last week, was sentenced today by Justice Goff to serve not less than five years or more than ten years and six months in Sing Sing prison. There are three other indictments against Qualey, involving swindling transactions amounting to about $3,000, but these have been dropped.

Mrs. Bull died after she had instituted proceedings against Qualey and before he was brought to trial. Her last request was that Qualey be prosecuted at her testimony given in the Magistrate's Court when she first accused Qualey's arrest was admitted as genuine in his trial before Justice Goff. Qualey interested Mrs. Bull in the Stages-Ambrosia Company, a concern promoted by himself. Testimony given by his former partner and a former employee established that the corporation was organized for the purpose of obtaining money under false pretenses.

"Qualey," said Justice Goff, "when the prisoner was arraigned for sentence today, 'if it be the complaints that have reached me are true, your record is very bad. I am convinced that for many years your sole business has been swindling people. A fitting place for you to spend your days is in prison.'"

During the court proceedings connected with the sentence of Qualey there sat at the press table a man who appeared to take the keenest pleasure in what was going on. When Justice Goff pronounced Qualey's sentence, the man who sat at the press table, who was Craig and he lived in Brooklyn. He refused further information about himself. He explained why he was overjoyed at the downfall of the swindler. "Eight years ago," he said, "I had a mill in town up State that was making money. I employed forty men and had a fine home. This man, Qualey, came along with a proposition to incorporate my business, enlarge it and make me a very rich man. I fell in with his plan and went to work with him. He had no mill and my home and kicked me out in the street. The experience cost me $40,000."

"I ever prosecuted him, because it would have involved a great deal of notoriety. I knew they'd got him eventually and I've been waiting. Thank God it's over and he's in prison. 'There's a lot of men in this world, I've known, when he came into the court room and saw me sitting there, he had the colossal gall to bow to me.'"

AUT DUMPED ACTRESS AND SPED ON ITS WAY.

An automobile going north on Fifth avenue slowed up at One Hundred and Tenth street before daylight today. The car opened and Miss Maud De Witt, actress "resting" at present, fell out and sat on the pavement. The automobile resumed its speed.

Policeman Byrne chased it to One Hundred and Tenth street and as it turned the corner and sped towards the city he fired two shots after it. Byrne then went back to Miss De Witt, who was still sitting on the sidewalk. Aided by Frank Schenck, of No. 248 West One Hundred and Forty-ninth street, he helped her to the sidewalk and called Dr. Lobenz from Harlem Hospital with an ambulance. Miss De Witt was not hurt except for badly bruised hands, but seemed mentally disturbed.

She said she had been riding with friends, but refused to tell their names. She said she thought they had not quite understood what they were doing. She lives with her mother at No. 63 West One Hundred and Sixth street.

From the license number of the car the police believe it belongs to Mrs. Ellen Sheehan of No. 43 Fifth avenue. Mrs. Sheehan said her car had been in garage until a few days ago, when it was sent to a shop for repairs. She thought there must have been some mistake like number.

WOMAN SPECTATOR HAS 14 ME FINE FOR SMOKING.

Two Managers of White Goods Factories Pay Penalty, With Twelve Employees.

Fourteen men, two managers and twelve employees in white goods manufacturing were fined in Special Sessions today, for smoking cigarettes in factories. Mrs. S. W. H. Christopher, inspector of the Fire Prevention Bureau, was the complainant against each.

Samuel Bender, manager of Schwartz & Lustig factory, at No. 28 West Twenty-fifth street, admitted he was caught smoking by Mrs. Christopher, in a room filled with inflammable material, which thirty girls were at work. Signs warning of the wall prohibited smoking.

"There's no excuse for you," Justice Moore said. "Of all men, you should have observed the law, thus setting a bad example to your employees." Bender was fined $10. Julius M. Reis, manager of a sample goods store at No. 40 Broadway, paid a fine of $5. The three paid fines of $3 each.

EX-ALDERMAN DAVIS LOSES ATTEMPT TO FORCE A NEW TRIAL

Plea for Certificate Only Adds
Strength to Blackmail Guilt, Court Decides.

Supreme Court Justice Hendrick today refused certificates of reasonable doubt sought for by former Alderman Percy L. Davis and Eben J. Owens, a missionary, who were separately convicted, and sentenced to not less than one year each in Sing Sing prison by Justice Goff on the charge of blackmailing Mrs. Eva B. Carroll out of $3,000. The two men were caught by detectives who were hiding as the money was passed.

Davis and Owens contended that they were only disinterested intermediaries, endeavoring to adjust a claim against Mrs. Carroll by Miss Viola Dawson, held by Carl Fowler, an attorney. They claimed that Justice Goff had erred in failing to allow testimony regarding a telephone conversation between Mrs. Carroll and Lawyer Fowler. Justice Hendrick sustained his colleague's conduct of the trial and said: "The defendants appear to believe that if they could show any facts indicating that the charges against the complainant, Mrs. Carroll, were true, the jury might have found that they were not guilty of the attempt to extort. So far from affording a justification, the truth of the charge would only aggravate the offense. It is not the character of the victim, but the intent of the person who seeks his money that constitutes the offense."

At the trial it was established that an affidavit made by Miss Dawson contained accusations against Mrs. Carroll and her son. The District Attorney claimed that Davis and Owens pretended to be acting for Fowler, with authority to settle Miss Dawson's alleged claim and to obtain the damaging affidavit at the same time. Miss Dawson was at one time employed as a maid by Mrs. Carroll.

After leaving Mrs. Carroll the girl forged Mrs. Carroll's name to a check. She was convicted and sentence was suspended, the Judge delivering her to Owens to be taken to a Mrs. Piper, in Brooklyn, who was interested in the reformation of unfortunate girls. Owens took the girl to the lawyer.
